Vermont Working Lands Enterprise Investment Bill Committee Vote Expected
House Agriculture Committee Expected to Vote Bill Out Tuesday

The Vermont House Agriculture Committee is expected to vote on the Working Lands Enterprise Investment bill (H.496) on Tuesday. The committee is scheduled to have final discussions on the bill this morning, with a vote expected this afternoon. The bill creates the Working Lands Enterprise Fund and the Working Lands Enterprise Board, which will oversee the Fund. The intent is to enhance economic development in the agriculture and forest product sectors by recognizing the similarities and unique qualities of these sectors, as well as to coordinate and integrate financial products and programs, as well as policy and land use decisions that support the people and businesses that depend on Vermont's renewable land-based natural resources and the sustainable and productive use of the land.

WHAT: Committee Vote

WHO: House Agriculture Committee

WHEN: Tuesday, February 21, 2012 (vote expected in the afternoon) **

WHERE: Vermont Statehouse – Room 31

PHOTO OPPORTUNITY: Committee discussion, vote

House Agriculture Committee member Rep. Will Stevens will be giving an update on the bill with Rep. Paul Ralston to the House Commerce Committee at 9 AM also.
